

ABSTRACT

Methods, apparatus, and articles of manufacture to provide protection for firmware resources are disclosed. In particular, the methods, apparatus, and articles of manufacture initialize firmware resources in a pre-boot environment and generate descriptors for the firmware resources. The descriptors are stored in a resource protection list and the resource protection list is stored in a location accessible in a post-boot environment.